For Travelers to Cambodia Transiting Through Thailand

The Royal Embassy of Cambodia to Japan wishes to inform the public that, in recent weeks, foreign travelers and Cambodian nationals traveling to the Kingdom of Cambodia have encountered significant difficulties while transiting through airports in Thailand, including Bangkok. These difficulties include:

- Prolonged questioning lasting several hours;
- Excessive demands to present proof of financial means;
- An intimidating environment and unreasonable suspicion; and
- In some cases, the loss of travelers' luggage during onward transfer from Thailand to Cambodia.

As a precautionary measure, travelers are strongly advised to temporarily avoid transiting through Thailand and using Thai airlines until further notice. Travelers are encouraged to consider alternative airlines that offer more convenient and favorable transit conditions.

The Kingdom of Cambodia remains a safe and welcoming destination for all travelers.
